

CI Tool: Buddy

- This is Guru99's #1 of their top 20 list of CI's and CD's
- Quick deployments
- Supports popular languages frameworks and task managers

The layout of the application seems quite simple, but there isn't a lot of clear instruction or any form of walkthrough that I can find. They have a guide section with some documentation but it seems more oriented toward the other range of capabilities the application has.

Not sure what the market share is for this tool

No companies using this tool listed on HGinsights are familiar to me

App Monitoring Tool: Sentry

- This was the first application to appear when I was searching for a tool
- They have a wide variety of languages they can work with
- They also have an easy access interactive Demo on their sandbox tab
- The layout within the app is very similar to Rollbar's

This seems like it would be a great app to start with. They have a simple and understandable layout, with simple access to a guide. Starts free until you are ready for a more useful subscription.

Market share is 93.78%

Walmart, Apple and Volkswagen are using Sentry